2009 National Missing Children's Day Poster Contest

"My poster is the praying hands in the middle of the earth. I formed this idea because everyone wants their child or children home. I thought it would be nice to put God's hands over the earth so that people everywhere could know to pray for their lives. I thought of the missing children and how they would want to be back in their house with their family and friends. I enjoyed doing this poster because I really think that everyone everywhere should bring all of our missing children home. I hope this poster will encourage people to bring them home!"
