

If you wish to file a complaint about an attorney, prosecutor or judge, or you have encountered a victim rights violation, here are some suggested avenues of recourse. It is important to document those violations/instances committed by the official. If the violation is egregious, media could be a resource to air a complaint.

*OCDC has members that are appointed by the Supreme Court. They enforce rules of professional conduct for attorneys, take complaints against attorneys, investigate unauthorized practices of law and give opinions to attorneys, etc. When a complaint is filed against an attorney, they will respond to the person initiating that complaint usually within about 3-4 weeks.

**MOPS is an association for Prosecuting Attorneys. They provide training and other organized programs for prosecutors.
